LYN HINER

Abstract – what does this simple word conjure in your mind? For many it's the notion of a generic idea, rather than something specific. But when applied to an art form, it becomes about the expression of ideas and emotions using bold colors, lines and shape to create a composition.

Lyn applies her vision and talent to the automotive form; you'll see on the following pages examples of her work. See how she uniquely distills objects we can all identify from the real world into an art form that grabs our attention. Her work that draws us in, encourages us to linger on the page, and evokes our sense of smell, speed and sounds of these beautiful machines.

Lyn's work is intentionally recognized. Notable series include 'Abstracted Air' celebrating early Porsche currently on display at Saratoga Springs Automotive Museum, NY

We are fortunate here at Avants to be able to showcase, the following pages are just a brief glimpse into her work.

Lyn is a true expressionist, who uses bold colors and heavy palette knife application.
